

I had the pleasure to meet Evan at the Ohio Tech Summit event yesterday outside Columbus, OH, where I had the honor to interview Evan and Mike Randall from Coldwell Banker Pinnacle Properties on the main stage about their use of video. I have been promoting video in my marketing speeches all around the country, and I regularly use clips of Evan and his Dad as an example to owners, agents and managers of how to do video the right way. I've been a big fan of Evan's market reports and it was great to spend time with him the past few days.

I wanted you to know that Evan is as impressive in person as he is on camera, and we are very proud to have Evan represent Coldwell Banker® not only in Rockwall, but to agents and managers all around North America.

Thank you for supporting Evan in his trip to Ohio, and we appreciate everything he does in making Coldwell Banker Real Estate the best company in the industry. See you soon!
